Ronnie,

I was not able to get him on the phone but he responded to Steve Mason that the county is providing free private water well testing. Steve said that the appropriate procedure on this is for people to contact the local EM. Steve will participate in the 1:00 pm call today to discuss how to best develop a list of county contacts on water well testing.

Thanks,
Robby

Robby,

Did you talk with Mr McLester? I didn't know if they had a lab or labs. Sometimes the county emergency managers are difficult to get a hold of.

Ronnie,

Here you go:

- Folks in Aransas County are wondering about well sampling and where they need to go. Do we know if there is a lab in that area that does this?

Rick McLester is the contact for this and can direct people to the appropriate labs.

Rick McLester is the Emergency Manager

I read the ESF 15 Communications summary and have the following observations:

- There is a list of Disaster Recovery Locations that are billed as a "one stop shop". These are probably good areas for our CLs to go to.
- Folks in Aransas County are wondering about well sampling and where they need to go. Do we know if there is a lab in that area that does this?
- Jefferson County - Hampshire First Baptist Church is operating as a point of distribution for clothing, water, and food and sheltering pets. This might be a good place for CLs to go to.
- Wharton County - Survivors report limited potable water and lack of debris removal. Referred to County EM. Kelly, here is an area mentioning water needs and water needs. We should follow up on the water question with our water assessment teams. Carey, can you get more information on the location of debris in Wharton County?

Thanks,

KEY MESSAGES

Navigating the Road to Recovery: Take care of yourself, your family and your neighbors

- With nearly $457 million in FEMA grants, NFIP claims paid and SBA loans already approved for Texas households affected by Hurricane Harvey, officials ask you to: Spend your FEMA grants wisely to take care of your disaster-related needs not covered by insurance.
 - Housing grants may be used to make basic home repairs or rent a temporary place to stay.
 - Other Needs Assistance grants may be used for the repair and replacement of necessary personal property.
 - Reminders: Survivors must use FEMA grants for their intended purpose. We will ask you for rent receipts before granting more rental assistance.
- Fill out a Survivor's Checklist of 9 steps to take you and your family down the road to recovery, found on the Texas Harvey disaster page: www.fema.gov/Hurricane-Harvey. The first three steps are:
 - Call my insurance agent (Homeowner & Flood)
 - Register with FEMA – Note: due to high call demand, phone lines may be busy. Please be patient. Try calling in the morning or evening when call volumes may be lower. Hours of operation: daily, 6 a.m. - 10 p.m. (CDT)
 - Schedule a FEMA Inspection – Note: due to the extraordinary level of damage, it is taking approximately 21 days for inspectors to get to some locations to evaluate damages. Do not wait to begin cleaning out your home to prevent additional damages. Document the damages through photos and save receipts.
- Visit DisasterAssistance.gov to check the status of your registration or find local resources to help you recover. Or download the FEMA mobile app to your smartphone or tablet to find the nearest Disaster Recovery Center—a one-stop shop for storm survivors who need one-on-one help.
- For updates about the disaster recovery operation, visit the Texas Harvey web page: www.fema.gov/Hurricane-Harvey. Then let your neighbors know how to apply for FEMA assistance and what is available. After the devastation of Harvey, people who can take care of themselves, their families, and their neighbors can contribute greatly to the recovery effort by freeing up resources to help those most in need.

Weatherford (TX) Democrat, Sept. 9, 2017 Thousands Disrupted By Disaster In Southeast Texas Jeremy Fuchs, spokesman for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, said assessing the losses is “a waiting game” right now. “A lot of folks were able to heed our early warnings and get those cattle out of harm’s way,” Fuchs said. Helicopters became aerial cowpokes to move the cattle to higher ground. “That said, the flooding — with the unprecedented rainfall — was much more dramatic than we expected, and so, in some instances, what they anticipated would be safe and secure wasn’t due to the overwhelming rain,” he added. There are reports of cattle swimming their way to higher ground. The high floodwaters also buoyed some cows over fences. “They’ll swim till their feet hit the ground,” said Ron Gill with the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension. “It’s just amazing what they’ve been able to do to get out of it.
